Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-41 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-7, 10-16 of copending Application No. 10/056,090. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims of '090 are of similar subject matter but narrower in scope, thereby meeting the broader limitations of this application.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1-4, 13,14,33,36,39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 7-299255 to Kabushiki. Kabushiki discloses right and left turning members for turning right and left steering wheels (fig 1), a connecting member (6) for connecting the right and left turning members with each other and for forming a turning pair with each turning member; one of a coil and a magnetic body (7,8) is provided on the connecting member and the other of the coil and magnetic body is fixed to a fixing portion (fig 1), the coil and magnetic body come close to and go away from each other and the connecting member takes at least two steering positions by controlling a current to be carried to the coil with a coil current carrying unit (page 20 2nd paragraph and page 21 1st paragraph of the specification), wherein the permanent magnet is provided so as to direct two poles of the permanent magnet to right and left directions and the coil is provided so as to face an edge portion to one of the two poles (fig 3-4). Kabushiki further discloses a round coil having an air coil (as seen for the figures). Regarding the disc shaped magnet (recited in claim 39), these type of magnets are well known in the art and therefore the use would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art. Although Kabushiki discloses having a neutral position there is no mention of the connecting member comprising a spring. '566 to Ishimoto teaches having a spring that aids in keeping the connecting member in neutral position. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use the spring of Ishimoto with the connecting member of Kabushiki for the purpose of better maintaining neutral position when current is not applied

5. Claim 15,16,21,35,38,40,41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over 7-299255 to Kabushiki in view of '566 to Ishimoto and further in view of '490 to Lesney (on ids). Kabushiki and Ishimoto disclose all of the elements of the claims (as applied above) except for the suspension device. Lesney teaches a suspension for moving the right and left turning members (figs 5-6) in upper and lower directions in a predetermined range; the suspension comprising a biasing member (18) which is supported in a middle of a width direction of the running toy so that right and left edge portions of the biasing member are elastically deformable in upper and lower directions and which extends on the right and left turning members; wherein the turning members are pressed with the right and left edge portions by a biasing force which is caused by elastically deforming the biasing member (page 3 lines 15-93), as recited in claims 7 and 10. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use the suspension of Lesney with the running toy of Ishimoto for the purpose of providing better suspension qualities for the toy.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Art Unit: 3722

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
